The analysis covered weeklies with economic or political content which were most read in the period 2010-2017. Týden weekly meets the criteria, Instinkt weekly did not. Both weeklies were put into the separate category as a control sample since they had a Chinese owner.

* The analysis was not performed in the specific year (the medium was not established, perished or did not meet the criteria for analysis).